OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE BOAT RACE.

CAMBRIDGE WIN BY 21
LENGTHS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

LONDON, April 1.
THE day was fine but somewhat dull, though the sun burst through at intervals, the wind almost due west, and the water choppy.
Cambridge won the toss and chose the Surrey side, which should give them an advantage for a mile.

LONDON, April 2.
SIR Esmond Ovey arrived in London from Moscow this morning.
He was met at Liverpool Street

ments.
Sir E. Ovey went to the Foreign Office immediately.

INTERNATIONAL RUGBY

SCOTLAND WIN CHAMPION-SHIP

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

DUBLIN, April 1.
IN fine weather, before a crowd of 40,000 Scotland won the International Rugby championship by beating Ireland by 8 points to 6.
The Play.
The game was hard and determined though not brilliant.
The best piece of combined back play occurred in the first minute, when Cooke got possession of the ball broke through and passed to Lightfoot who transferred for Crowe to score an unconverted try for Ireland.
Jackson had a beautiful drop goal from the scrum.
Half-time: Scotland 4, Ireland 3.
Murray scored a try soon after the interval for Ireland but Lind dropped a goal ten minutes before time.
Final score Scotland 8, Ireland 6.

IN A KOWLOON SUBURB

ROADSIDE EATING HOUSE

The race starts at 4 p.m.
Both crews had spins this morning. The usual big crowds lining both banks of the river.

The race started at 4.03 p.m.
Both crews striking thirty-six.
They were level at the boat houses
when Oxford, pulling splendidly, took a slight lead at Beverley Brook.

Oxford maintained their lead to Craven Steps, Malden, and at the mile were still slightly ahead at Cambridge.

There was a great struggle past Chiswick, Cambridge working up to thirty to Oxford's twenty-eight took the lead by half a length at Harrods.

Cambridge's lead was due to a fine spurt as they were approaching Harrods.

Lead Increased.

Cambridge increased their lead to a length at Lead Mills, but Oxford reduced it to three-quarters at the two-mile post. Both were rowing strenuously and the position was the same at Doves.

Although Oxford pulled to thirty,
the same as Cambridge, the latter increased their lead to a length at Hill. Both crews rowing strongly, Oxford reduced Cambridge's lead to three-quarters of a length at Chiswick.

Cambridge were a length ahead at Chiswick Steps, Oxford spurted

and regained a quarter of a length but Cambridge were leading just of a length at Duke's Meadows and gradually drew away and led by 12 lengths at the three-mile post.

A Gallant Spurt.

After Barne's Bridge, Oxford gained a length and favoured by the bend they made a gallant bid to remedy their desperate plight, they spurred unfuriously but made little impression on Cambridge who, without increasing their striking, held off their rivals somewhat easily.

At Bull's Head, Cambridge led by nearly two lengths which they maintained past Barne's Bridge, Whitehart, both crews striking at thirty-two.

Cambridge won by two and a quarter lengths.
The official time was 20 mins. 57
secs.

Cambridge Win a Good Race.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, April 1.
For the tenth year in succession Cambridge won the boat race today.

Cambridge won the toss, and although Oxford held a slight lead for the first mile Cambridge then drew ahead and won a good race by two and a quarter lengths in 20 minutes 57 seconds.

Cambridge have now 44 races and Oxford 40.

LINKING UP THE EMPIRE BY AEROPLANE

Great Britain's Lead in Development

INDUSTRY WHICH NOW
EMPLOYS 30,000
WORKPEOPLE

The announcement from Sydney, that a company has registered for the purpose of tendering for the air service between the Australian coast and Singapore draws attention to the fact that a new link is about to be forged in completion of the chain of Empire air services.

The history of civil aviation in the United Kingdom is, in effect, the history of the development of the air routes of the Empire, states the Financial Times in a review of the aircraft industry.

While progress in British aviation at home has not been neglected, a number of factors in combination have operated to give the movement its outward direction—the geographical situation of the country, its position as the centre of the Empire, the shortness of interior distances, and the capacity of existing rail, road and coastwise services to meet most home requirements for passenger and merchandise traffic.

The vital need that Great Britain should take the lead in establishing the air-routes of the Empire and the obvious impossibility of such a task being carried to success from the beginning on ordinary commercial lines led to the appointment of a Government Committee in 1923, to advise on the best method of subsidising air transport in the future. The recommendation was that a single organisation should be created, secured with a privileged position in regard to subsidy for a term of years.

Combination of Four

So it was that Imperial Airways came into being as a combination of the four companies then in existence—Handley-Page Transport, Instone Air Line, Daimler Airways and British Marine Air Navigation.

The task set before Imperial Airways was to develop the Empire air routes and to make air transport a self-supporting industry as soon as possible, and in order to ensure steady progress and efficiency the subsidy paid by the Government was fixed on a diminishing scale.

Taking 1925 as the first in its effective history, the progress towards making civil aviation a commercial proposition has been truly remarkable. It was early discovered that small-scale operation with small fleet units could never be made profitable, and the terms of the original agreement with the Government were altered to enable developments to proceed on bolder lines.

The success of this policy is illustrated by a comparison of the cost of providing a "capacity ton mile" (capacity of the aircraft multiplied by the mileage flown) on the European services. Taking 1925 as 100, the figure was down to 49.6 in 1932. In the same period the percentage of scheduled services cancelled on account of weather and other reasons fell from 21 to 2.99.

VISCOUNT SAITO'S CABINET

JAPAN PREPARING FOR NEW ADMINISTRATION

Tokyo, Mar. 22.—Political circles here have started their activities in connection with a successor to Viscount M. Saito as Premier, following the unexpected interview between the Premier and Mr. K. Takahashi, the Finance Minister, this morning.

In December last, Mr. Takahashi, at the request of the Premier, asked Mr. K. Suzuki, president of the Seiyukai, the majority party, for his support of the Government during the 64th session of the Diet on certain conditions, it was reported then. With the Diet session to be closed within a week, Seiyukai leaders anticipate a change of the political situation in the near future. It is said that Mr. Takahashi asked the Premier's opinion during today's interview as to the attitude of the Government.

A rumour that the Finance Minister advised the Premier to offer the general resignation of the Cabinet following the close of the Diet session was widespread today. (Continued at foot of next column)

U.S. MAY LODGE PROTEST

Japan's Retention of Mandated Islands

TO ACT IN UNISON WITH LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Washington, March 22.—It was indicated in high quarters to-day that the United States may be expected to enter a vigorous protest against Japan's asserted right to hold the mandated islands in the South Seas after her withdrawal from the League of Nations.

The protest will, it was said in these quarters, be withheld for a time as it would be untimely to announce any policy at present. It was pointed out in circles close to the Administration that the United States has at times insisted upon the right to share in the disposition of all former German colonies by virtue of the joint victory of the Allied armies in the World War.

The State Department which has been following the situation closely was reported to-day to be prepared to act in harmony with the League of Nations and also, individually, because the matter of the mandates was first announced by the late president, speaking on behalf of the Allies six days prior to the Armistice, invited the Germans to lay down their arms on certain stated conditions, which were contained in the Wilson Fourteen Points. Point five of that declaration referred to the agreement of the Allies to adjust all colonial claims with an open mind.

League the Distributing Agent.

While the United States has always held that the colonial possessions of Germany were ceded to the Allies and not to the League, it is understood that the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, in his protest will recognize that the League was the distributing agent and that United States approved the mandate to Japan although approval was withheld until the Washington Conference in 1922. At that time, the United States accepted Japan's position as a mandatory.

It was said to-day that Mr. Hull holds that America's acceptance of Japan's position did not depend on whether Japan remained in the League of Nations.

It was also reported that the Administration would be quite satisfied if the mandates are returned to the League but experts have pointed out that the Covenant, while providing for the well-being of the mandates, did not provide for their return to the League. This would present an intricate legal problem, it was said to-day.

Informed persons said, however, that the United States would prefer that the mandates should be returned to the League as the best solution under the circumstances.

It was further pointed out in the American-Japanese treaty of 1922, it was expressly stated that there should be no modification of the mandate unless the United States gave assent.

American's Concern.

In 1921 Mr. Bainbridge Colby, then Secretary of State, said that the United States had an equal concern and an inseparable interest, as well as an equal voice, in the disposition of Germany's overseas possessions.

The approval of the mandate, delayed as it was, is considered by international authorities as virtually compelling the United States to act in closest union with the League in settling the matter. It is predicted that the United States would approve the League's action in the matter and give it additional strength by an individual protest to Japan.

The State Department has already communicated with the League on the matter, it was said, but decided not to make a formal protest at present.

The conditions of America's acceptance of the mandate to Japan were conditional, especially relating to fortifications. Should Japan withdraw from the League and thereafter fortify any of the mandated islands, the treaty stipulations would be violated.

It is believed that Mr. Norman Davis, special U.S. Ambassador, will discuss the situation at length with League members before any American protest is made.

This drew much attention from other political parties.

Viscount Saito decided to interview with Baron F. Yamamoto, the Home Minister, who has been ill for some time, and other Cabinet Ministers, shortly, before deciding the final attitude of the Cabinet as a whole, it was learned. (United Press)

FIVE STAR FINAL

STRONG HIT FANTASTIC
STORY OF JOURNALISM

Five Star Final, showing at the Queen's Theatre is a grim and vivid story of American Yellow Press methods. It tells of a newspaper chess proprietor and departmental chiefs take up the story of a twenty year-old murder, and play up the facts that the woman who committed the crime is now a charming and respected member of local society, and her daughter is on the eve of a brilliant match.

The glare of publicity is thrown on the household, and the "murders" of a score of years ago in her despair commits suicide and her husband follows suit; their daughter's fiancé is disinherited, for refusing to call off the marriage; the girl goes round to shoot the editor and proprietor, but is just prevented in time. The wretched editor resigns—he has had conscience about the whole matter, and there the film ends. It is not meant for laughs, but it is extremely good entertainment.

We do not know whether this sort of thing goes on in America, or is merely Hollywood imagination. If a newspaper in the British Empire tried that kind of game it would be quickly downed. Other papers would begin the process, probably the populace would wreck the office, and no doubt a British jury would award damages sufficient, not to "compensate" the victims but to bankrupt the offenders. Five Star Final is, in fact, a mere fantasy of journalism—a warning if you like, of what might happen. It is always a difficult task to judge where publicity has to be given, even if it means personal suffering, but the gratuitous torturing of individuals for the sake of a "stunt," is not a danger that has any substance where British institutions prevail.

Graham Scutten as the arch

Malleson as a timid little man who

"SIGN OF FOUR"

SHERLOCK HOLMES THRIL-LER FOR KING'S THEATRE

Those lovers of thrilling film drama who like their thrills tempered with logical action and a feasible story should not miss the Associated Radio Pictures "The Sign of Four" which will be shown at the King's Theatre on Thursday.
This is the most famous of the Sherlock Holmes stories by that master of detective yarns Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Not only is it the most famous but, from the point of view of screen material, his best. For "The Sign of Four" bristles with thrilling action as soon as the famous Baker Street criminologist is brought into the case. In fact the film ends with a breath-taking "free-for-all" against the grim background of the Thames waterfront. This finely staged and vigorously played scene is one of the finest "battles between the law and the underworld seen on the screen."

As to feasibility of story, Conan Doyle was too able a craftsman for anyone to find flaws in the structure or in the deductions which lead Sherlock Holmes on to the truck of the sinister Jonathan Small. As the film follows the original story very closely the same can be said of the screen version.
Arthur Wontner plays the part of Sherlock Holmes. This well-known stage and screen star is the finest possible choice for this role, for he has without doubt, played the role more times and more successfully than any other actor of stage or screen. His features, his voice and his mannerisms are exactly those of the Sherlock Holmes described by his originator, Conan Doyle, in his many novels.

Although obviously the role of Sherlock Holmes is the most important, he cannot play alone, and the director, Graham Cutts was particularly happy in his choice of Ian Hunter as the stolid but goodhearted Dr. Watson and Isla Blyan who makes a particularly appealing heroine who seeks the assistance Sherlock Holmes and ends by marrying the worthy Doctor.

AT THE KING'S

GAYNOR-FARRELL AGAIN
CO-STARRED

"TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY"

Local cinema goers must make it a point to see the current picture at the King's Theatre in which Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are again co-starred. This is probably the last time that these two stars will be seen in the same picture and those who remember the many screen romances produced with these two in the leading roles, will certainly wish to see their last picture together.

Some of the best song hits of recent times have been from pictures in which Gaynor and Farrell have taken the leading parts, but in "Tess" there are no song hits. Instead, the producers depend entirely on the drama and romance in the story and it is difficult to say whether this picture is not really the best that this romantic couple has so far produced.
One misses the songs, but in such a delightfully human story as "Tess of the Storm Country" songs would be entirely out of place.
Janet Gaynor as the daughter of a sea-captain and Charles Farrell as the son of a millionaire (how romantic it all sounds) are thrown together by a stroke of fortune and though they ultimately straighten gift you can make. The family, too, will welcome a new portrait.

JEAN HARLOW'S FLANNEL NIGHTIES

"IN 'THREE WISE GIRLS'"

Imagine Jean Harlow in an old-fashioned flannel nightgown! Visualize Jean in cotton bloomers!

If your imagination doesn't stretch that far, see "Three Wise Girls," the Columbia film showing at the Queen's Theatre on Thursday next.

"Three Wise Girls" presents the platinum-haired beauty as a modest small-town girl, who isn't up to all of the tricks of her metropolitan sisters. Jean not only wears flannel nighties but lisle hose and "sensible" shoes. She's an old-fashioned girl with old-fashioned ideas—a far cry from the sithering gangster's moll Jean has portrayed in many other pictures.

Later in the course of "Three Wise Girls" Jean goes to the big city and gets a job as mannequin in an elegant modiste's shop. There she learns the value of sheer silk lingerie and close-fitting gowns.
The new Columbia picture also has Mac Clarke, Walter Byron, Marie Prevost, Natalie Moorhead, Andy Devine and Jameson Thomas in important roles, under the direction of William Beaudine.

LESSON SERMON

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 2.

The Golden Text was: "Thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?" (Jer. 2: 5.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made." (John 1: 1-3.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the Gospel of John, it is declared that all things were made through the Word of God," and without Him (the logos, or word) was not anything made that was made." "Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make;—hence its unreality." (P.
525.)

NIGHT STAR STILL UNBEATEN

WINS AUSTRALIAN EVENT IN SPITE OF TOP WEIGHT: WOODLAND
STAG SECONDNAVY HALL AND FLYING BOY PAY
BIG DIVIDENDS

(BY "MORNING DEW")

SATURDAY'S RACING AMPLY BORE OUT MY PREDICTION THAT LIGHT WEIGHTS WOULD HAVE A GOOD DAY AND WITH THE EXCEPTION OF NIGHT STAR (WHO WAS SELECTED TO WIN THE FIRST RACE) THE LIGHT WEIGHTS CAME IN ONE AFTER ANOTHER IN REGULAR SUCCESSION.

MERMAID WON THE "B" CLASS AUSTRALIAN EVENT FROM LUCY GLITTERS AND EVENING STAR. MERMAID CARRIED THE VERY LIGHT IMPOST OF 137 POUNDS.

The biggest dividend of the day was paid by Navy Hall, ridden by Mr. A. M. L. Soares, who returned his supporters $155 for a win. The pony won the "B" Class event over six furlongs and accounted for a classy lot, winning in 1.29.3 which is very good time indeed.

Flying Boy, ridden by the Champion jockey certainly gave his supporters a big thrill when he came home to pay $111 for a win, the dividend being the biggest paid on anything ridden by Mr. Frost since he won the Valleys with The Grouse three years ago.

From Saturday's running, it is obvious that Night Star is too good for the rest of the Australian ponies and it looks as though the next time he faces the starter, he will have to carry a tremendous weight.

The last race of the day provided a double dead heat, King Salmon and Amoy tying for first place while a length behind Orlando and Warrington tied for second place. It was a thrilling finish and proved a suitable finale to a day full of surprises—some welcome and some otherwise.

DEAD HEAT IN LAST RACE

CANTERBURY PARK H'CAP.

Night Star was an odds on favourite for the first race and although the pony drew the last position in a field of seven the result was obvious as soon as the gate went up for Pan sent him out early on and before the first quarter mile was over he was lapping comfortably ahead of the field. Wotin and Nguk made a big effort to draw near, but without avail. Portia came up with the lead on the bend into the straight, but fell back again, while the old stalwart, Woodland Stag, could not manage the earlier pace but came along beautifully in the straight to share second place with Portia, the two of them being a little more than a couple of lengths behind the favourite.

Spotted Butterfly.

This pony is certainly earning a place in the "B" Class and will no doubt be promoted very soon. He accounted for a field of fifteen on Saturday and came through like a knife when asked for an effort from his jockey, Mr. Frost, who was content in the earlier part of the race to wait behind the leaders, Bistre, with his light weight surprised the field by taking second place while Alexandra Hall with Mr. Heard up had to be content with third place.

Don Wins.

Tung Man Wah had a joy ride on Don in the novices event and won just as he like in 2.07 for the mile. The nearest thing to Don was California ridden by Choy Wing Hay while Dee took third place after seeming difficult to manage in the earlier part of the race.

Flying Boy.

The public backed Hey Tor to win with Iron Grey, Jack O'Lantern and Charming Face next. Then came Black Velvet (1), Black Rock and Flying Boy while there were a few tickets on White Butterfly and seven on Ta Penstie.

The race proved how even things were. Hey Tor after making the most of the earlier part of the journey by leading the field, threw up the sponge on entering the straight where Iron Grey and Flying Boy fought the issue, the former tiring before the end and losing by a length to Flying Boy. White Butterfly was a good third.

Partnership Wins.

Butler, riding Philiterer rode a fine race in the Bias Bay Handicap for "E" Class ponies. He was the victim of some jamming in the start and consequently found himself at the back of the field of sixteen in a six furlong race. Nothing daunted, he steered his mount through the field and put up a glorious race in the straight, but had to go under by a neck to Partnership, while a short head behind, Frost brought along Helvellyn.

Tolo Plate.

This race for non-winning griffins over a mile and a quarter proved an easy thing for Pooker Face especially as Per Se one of his biggest dangers, fared badly at the start. Per Se managed to come through the race, second place and King's Company was third.

Mermaid's Win.

The "B" Class Australian event proved to be a slow race in which Lucy Glitters led the field, but Mermaid, carrying a light weight won easily in the home straight. Evening Star was third and the favourite, But After That had to be satisfied with fourth place.

The Last Race.

The betting in the last race was the most peculiar part of the race. Warrington carrying 159 pounds was made favourite. That is not very surprising as Warrington is the Champion sub, but what puzzles me is the 603 winning tickets put on Battling Horse, a Maxeo sub, which is obviously a very inferior pony, even for "D" Class. He finished nowhere.

Orlando made all the running, but was caught at the distance post by King Salmon while Amoy came along with a terrific rush at the end to dead-heat for the first place. Warrington dead heated with Orlando for third place.

HOW INDUSTRY FIGHTS THE SLUMP

The present world-wide depression in trade and industry has its good side—it brings out the inventive faculties of industrialists who are not weaklings. A financial crisis, in which money is hard to come by, stimulates the activities of the engineer and the research-worker in applied science. The results of these activities may not be immediately apparent, but they show themselves as soon as the depression begins to pass, and in many cases these activities are one of the most potent of the forces which bring about trade revival. In such a highly industrialized community as Great Britain—a country that has always taken the lead in engineering—one would expect to find that the past year was one in which the engineering industry had devoted more time than is usual to the development of new ideas, and devices which lead to greater efficiency and increased output. In other words, while the financial rewards of the engineering industry in the last year have been anything but great, the relative freedom from the exigencies of delivery has enabled work-managers to devote more time to the consideration of new methods. It is a less going on in the factory and shipyard, that is, at the bottom of the confidence with which the engineers of British engineering contemplate the future.

In so vast a field as British engineering it is impossible to do more than pick out a few pointers, as it were, to indicate what was achieved in 1932. Naturally, the best showing was in the newer industries, such as electrical generation and distribution and aviation. These industries are at present in a rapidly developing state and are less hampered by attachment to old, if tried, ways. Still less are they burdened by the dead weight of excessive capital, for in both the cases referred to their greatest development came after the period of post-war inflation. We will begin by giving a few salient features of aircraft construction and development in Great Britain in 1932.

On the whole the year was for British aviation one of very considerable achievement. It was not so spectacular, perhaps, as previous years, but real progress was made in nearly all spheres of aeronautical activity. A remarkable feature was the production of no fewer than twenty new civil aircraft types. A few new military types were produced, but have design seems to be stabilizing itself. Much progress was made with all-ways suitable for aircraft. The flying-boat has been developed, especially the type used by Imperial Airways, Ltd. In commercial aviation the outstanding event was the opening and successful operation of the England-Cape Town route. Finally, the British aircraft industry did remarkably well in the matter of sales to foreign countries during 1932. In spite of the financial depression many British firms did considerable trade with Continental and South American countries, as well as with the East, and British prestige in aircraft and aero engines has never been higher.

Turning to other forms of transport, as already mentioned in this column the Southern Railway completed last year the electrification of the fifty-mile stretch from London to Brighton, and on the other railways the average speed of many trains was raised during the year. In shipbuilding 1932 repeated the depressing story of the previous year, but after ten months of almost complete stagnation conditions brightened in the last two months, and it is thought that as a result of orders placed the figures for new tonnage commenced in British shipyards for the March quarter of 1933 will exceed the tonnage commenced during the whole of 1932. In marine engineering the outstanding feature during the past year was the research into methods of securing enhanced steam economy. A number of new designs of engines were brought out, all with the object of reduction of running costs.

A revival of shipbuilding would be very welcome to the British iron and steel industry, which so far as trade is concerned showed little improvement last year over 1931. The year was the first in which the industry enjoyed a considerable measure of protection. A good deal of work was done towards making certain foundries self-contained, and the utilization of fuel and energy. Faced with competition in many directions, the industry is now devoting attention to questions of quality rather than output. The subject of corrosion also is receiving ever increasing attention.

In 1932 the system of electricity supply in Great Britain, known as the "Grid" system, was practically completed. The year's construction of overhead lines was 1,300 miles. For the entire national overhead scheme there were only 223 miles to be constructed at the end of the year. This work of electrifying Great Britain kept the construction companies very busy, but there was again a large export trade in electrical goods.

Railway electrification in several countries was undertaken by British firms, including particularly Denmark and Hungary. In telephony, after great world development in the last decade, 1931 and 1932 witnessed a set-back, but Great Britain was the country least affected in this respect, the new subscribers obtained in that country during 1932 being the biggest increase recorded by any telephone administration in the year. Automatic telephony made a large advance during the past twelve months in Great Britain.

A final word as to the British motor industry. The slump which began in 1930 and lasted well into 1932 has been checked. Changes in design have been very slight during the past year, but one may signalize certain trends in construction. The popular "baby car," of say seven horse-power, seems to be yielding place to some extent to the 8, 10 and 14 horse-power types. Also the six-cylinder type, which has been the most popular of any during the past four years, is beginning to show a decline in favour. Whereas at the Olympia Show of 1930 the "four" were 22 per cent of all exhibits and the "six" 58 per cent, in last autumn's Show the relative figures were 22 per cent and 50 per cent.

OBITUARY

LORD CHELMSFORD

FAMOUS INDIAN CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMER

[THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY]

LONDON, April 2.—THE death occurred to-day of Lord Chelmsford the famous Indian constitutional reformer. The late Lord Chelmsford was born on August 12, 1863, being the eldest son of the 2nd Baron Chelmsford. He was educated at Winchester College and Magdalen College, Oxford. From 1906-9 he was Governor of Queensland, Governor of New South Wales, 1909-13 and Viceroy of India 1916-21.

SIR RANJITSINHJI VIBHAJI

MAHARAJA OF JAMNAGAR STATE

The death occurred to-day of Sir Ranjitsinhji Vibhaji, Maharaja of Jamnagar State.

"It is no sinecure to be a Maharajah," Ranjitsinhji, Maharajah of Jamnagar State, India, otherwise known as "Ranji," sometimes known as the "Babe Ruth of cricket," made this statement to a Press correspondent whom he received at his palatial estate.

"Ranji" is still referred to by cricket enthusiasts as the "greatest cricketer that ever lived." His achievements in that field are said to have constituted the high-water mark of English cricket. They include the scoring of two double centuries in a single match and in a single day. This was accomplished by Ranji during a game between his team, Sussex, and Yorkshire. He is also credited with having three times scored a total of over 3000 runs during three seasons.

"Alas," he said, "my cricketing days are over. Although I still dearly love the game, nowadays I have to remain content with watching others play from time to time. 'You see,' he added, 'I have duties to perform in another field. I have my State to rule. This is a harder game than the other, yet it is a very fascinating one.'

SEQUEL TO DEATH OF SINGER

HUSBAND SENTENCED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Berlin, March 24.—The midnight drama outside the Berlin opera house on October 24, when Gertrud Bindernagel, one of the best-known operatic stars in Germany, was shot to death, had a sequel to-day when Wilhelm Hirtz, her husband, was sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment for deliberate but unpremeditated manslaughter.

Hirtz, who at one time had been a banker, had had trouble with his wife, who, prior to her death, alleged that he had lived on her money ever since the crash of his banking firm. She also stated that her husband had objected to her refunding the money some of her friends had placed in his bank. This caused domestic discord and, according to Hirtz, led him in a fit to shoot his wife.—Reuter.

Intelligent Girls.

"I find that when I lecture at girls' schools I am asked for more intelligent questions than when I lecture to business men or politicians," said the Marquis of Tavistock at Beckenham.

Tact and Transport.

Mr. Oliver Stanley's appointment to the Ministry of Transport, is a good one, for if there is one department in addition to the Home Office the conduct of which requires tact, that department is the Ministry of Transport. There is a feeling, as a House of Lords' vote proved, that it ought not to exist at all, and Mr. Pybus, during the debates on the London Passenger Transport Bill, suffered more cruelly from criticism than any Minister during the present Parliament. The Home Office, however, is the College of Tact, and Mr. Stanley has graduated from it with honours. His handling of debates on popular Private Members' Bill which the Government do not intend to encourage is a valuable lesson in how to soothe without using syrup.

Two Teetotallers.

Here is a tale of two teetotallers. In the Court of Appeal in England recently they were talking about percentages and a barrister said that percentages might be used to cover up the real position.

"Well," said Lord Justice Scrutton, "there used to be a story which illustrates that. 'It was of an ardent temperance reformer who asked for statistics as to the teetotallers on the Gold Coast. He got them—showing that 50 per cent. had died, and 50 per cent. had been invalided home.'

"That did not encourage the reformer. 'But on looking at the table he found that there were only two teetotallers, and that one had died from snake-bite and the other had been invalided home with rheumatism.' (Laughter).

On Friday one case of small-pox, one of typhoid and one of meningitis were reported.

The British Admiralty Fleet orders announce that naval ratings are now to have pyjamas, and the order says suits are now available at 4/6 per pair.

For disobeying an order of expulsion, a Russian, Michel Zdobridsky was sent by Mr. Wynne-Jones at Central Magistracy on Saturday to prison for two months.

The distribution of certificates and prizes of the Wah Yan College will take place in the College Hall at 5 p.m. to-day. Mr. Simon Tse Yan will distribute the awards.

The four-masted German barque Peiping, which is replacing the old training ship Arcturion, will be opened as the new Arcturion by the Prince of Wales at Rochester on July 20.

Mr. E. J. R. Mitchell informs us that during his temporary absence on leave Mr. H. K. Rowan, will be in charge of the South China Branch of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Co.

It is interesting to note that the "Empress of Japan" the largest and fastest liner on the Pacific, again lowered her record between Honolulu and Victoria last month by 7 hours and 47 minutes, making a record crossing in 4 days, 8 hours and 3 minutes.

Captain W. Field Hook, master of the s.s. Kemsang, which arrived from Osaka and Moji, reported at the Harbour Office his vessel having gone aground on Shimonoeki Straits on March 24. The ship was, however, refloated the same day, without any damage having been sustained.

The last meeting of the current session of the English Association takes place on Tuesday, at 5.30 p.m. in the Helena May Institute, when the Hon. Dr. Kotewall, C.M.G., will speak on "Adventures Among English Books." H.E. Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., has promised to preside. Members who wish to have tea in the lecture hall must order it the day before from the Matron of the Helena May Institute, Tel. 22160.

Harold Mossman, 52, an unemployed mariner from York, England, was committed to the House of Detention by Mr. Wynne-Jones on a charge of vagrancy. Detective-Sergeant Mottram stated that the defendant's wife was in Manila, and the police had written to the British Consul with a view to sending Mossman there. The Benevolent Society here had been supporting him, but they had been unable to carry on.

This for Remembrance.

If anybody in America has not heard of Washington it is through no fault of Mr. Sol Bloom, who organised the bicentennial celebrations. Here are a few statistics which he gives. Some 700,000 committees were appointed, and by them a million commemorative gatherings were arranged. More than a million copies of Washington's portrait and a similar number of a specially written song, "Father of the Land we love" were distributed by the Government to schools, and thirty million memorial trees were planted.

A Pardonable Oath.

The story of a little boy who contracted the habit of swearing before the legal age was told with great success at a recent "Ladies' Night" dinner in London. The hostess had been asked by the boy's parents to send him home immediately if he swore.

Within half an hour of the boy's leaving home he was back again. His mother boxed his ears and father thrashed him on the doorstep. Then, "What did you say?" they asked.

The little boy replied scornfully: "The d—d party isn't until Monday."

Nightingales "Moved On."

Even the best of city improvements causes the destruction of some minor beauty. One modern Rome "improvement" has banished "a nest of nightingales."

Just outside the Piazza del Popolo, where the rich woods of the Villa Borghese impinge on the fever and fire of streets, there are some tall trees from whose branches nightingales have been wont to "satiate the hungry dark with melody." The erection of the Rome-Viterbo railway station has banished these nightingales from their traditional haunt and has deprived the neighbouring houses of casements made magic by the birds.

Local and General

The Fire Brigade in Kowloon had a call from Gun Club Hill, yesterday, and two appliances were rushed to the scene, but on arrival it was found that the fire was a very small one, a quantity of tar used for road-making having been accidentally set alight. The fire had been extinguished by foam extinguishers before the Brigade's arrival.

The annual dinner of the Oxford and Cambridge Society took place on Saturday at Gloucester Building. H.E. Sir William Peel, presided, the toast of Oxford being proposed; extremely wittily, by Mr. Justice J. R. Wood, and the Bishop of Victoria, the Right Rev. R. O. Hall, gave the toast of Cambridge with equal felicity. There was a large attendance of members.

Some weeks ago the Chinese Maritime Customs notified that from August 1 all goods imported into China must be marked in Chinese characters with the name of the country of original manufacture. The Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce learns from a trustworthy source that it is proposed to modify this regulation. Marks in either English, French or Chinese will be accepted. An extensive official list has just been issued by the Customs, detailing whereabouts on various types of goods the marks of origin are to be shown.

A variety entertainment is to be held on Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8 at Volunteer Headquarters starting at 8.30 p.m. The performance is under the patronage of H.E. the Governor and Lady Peel, H.E. the General Officer Commanding and Mrs. Borrett and the Rt. Rev. the Bishop of Victoria. It is in aid of the Disabled Officers' Garden Homes (Watford) and the Cheero Club (Hong Kong). Admission will be at $4, $3, $2, and $1 (service men in uniform half price). Advance booking of reserved seats may be made at Anderson Music Co., St. George's Building. A number of well-known local artists have promised their services and no trouble is being spared to make the entertainment a really good one. The causes, to which reference has already been made in the Daily Press, will command themselves to everyone. Of the Cheer 'O Club, and the hopes to revive it, there is no need to write, as we all know the need for the institution and the appreciation shown of it in the past. At the Disabled Officers' Garden Homes at Watford, men who sacrificed their full working efficiency in the War are able to lead healthy, useful and happy out-door lives. They have a wonderful market garden, and while they very nearly keep themselves in this way, money is badly needed to maintain and expend the work.

From the Files.

LOOKING BACK 75 YEARS

In our endeavours to gratify the yearning of the community for late and important intelligence, we do not consider ourselves unreasonable in expecting that letters and files addressed to us, should be delivered soon after the arrival of the vessel that brings them, as may be actually practicable or reasonably convenient. The accommodation thus afforded is due not to ourselves individually but to the public generally. The str. Yangtze arrived from Shanghai about noon on Sunday. We did not receive the papers she brought until midday on Monday, the morning being frittered away in scouting about for such fragments of news as we were lucky enough to snatch. We mention this circumstance in order to account for the delay which occurred in the publication of our issue of yesterday.—Hong Kong Daily Press, April 3, 1958.

LOOKING BACK 50 YEARS

The advent of a new Governor would under any circumstances be an event of importance in this Colony, but the arrival of Sir George Bowen, following as it does upon a lengthened season of keenest discontent, bitterness, enmity, and fiercest antagonism, becomes of more than usual interest. The waters troubled and lashed into fury by the misrule of Sir John Pope Hennessy have during the past year subsided into calm under the gentle hands of the Hon. W. H. March, who in making way for our new Governor, may take to himself the gratifying reflection that he has presided over the administration of this Colony during one of its pleasantest periods of existence.—Hong Kong Daily Press, April 3, 1983.

Looking Back 25 Years.

His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint Mr. H. H. J. Gompertz to act as Police Judge, Mr. J. R. Wood to act as first Police Magistrate and Mr. J. R. Wood to act as second police magistrate during the absence on leave of His Honour Mr. Justice Wise and Mr. F. A. Jessland, or until further notice.—Hong Kong Daily Press, April 3, 1908.

SOUND BUDGETARY POSITION

BRITISH FIGURES FOR LAST YEAR

[REUTER AND BRITISH WIRELESS.]

London, March 1. A REMARKABLY sound budgetary position is revealed by the publication to-night of the year's revenue and expenditure statistics, the total deficit of £32,270,000 including the anticipated payment of the American debt instalment.

Skilful conversion operations saved the country £30,000,000 in interest payments.

The financial year ended to-day and the returns issued by the Treasury show that revenue has amounted to £744,791,000.

Excluding the payment to the United States Government, expenditure amounted to £748,114,000.

A deficit of £3,323,000 is reached after providing £171 millions for sinking fund.

The payment to the United States was £24,559,000, making a total deficit of £32,270,000.

No Debt Income.
As against the payment to the United States there would normally have been received, since last July, £304 millions from allied war debts to Britain and from reparations and a further £71 millions from Dominion war debts, the relief of debts, etcetera making £373 millions in all at current rates of exchange.

Reparations and war debt payments, however, are under arrangements made at Lausanne, suspended until the Lausanne agreement has been reached or until a decision has been reached not to ratify that agreement. If all the payments normally due to this country since July, 1932, had been received in full, the budget would have been balanced with a surplus of £53 millions.

The budget which made no provision for receipts or outgoings for reparations and war debts, £768,800,000 and a total expenditure, including a provision for the sinking fund of £323 millions of £765,000,000.

Income Tax Down.
Income tax and surtax yielded £312,200,000 which is £133 millions less than estimated. Estates duties yielded £68 millions, which was one million more than the estimate.

On the expenditure side the fixed debt charges were fixed for the year at £278 millions for interest and management of the debt and £233 millions for the sinking fund.

The payment to the United States is shown in the return as separate and single item within the year's budget expenditure.

This is done to mark its special character, for in making the payment the Government reserved the right to treat the whole sum as a capital payment, of which account should be taken in any final settlement.

Interest and Sinking Fund.
Excluding the payment to the United States Government, payments from the fixed debt charge for interest etcetera, have amounted to £2824 millions and for the sinking fund to £171 millions.

An additional sum of £2,555,000 representing interest on savings certificates has been met from borrowed money.

The reduction in the sinking fund payments below the amount anticipated in the budget is due to the effect of the rise in price of gilt-edged securities, following the war loan conversion operation, on statutory and contractual sinking fund requirements.

The Budget estimate for the supply was £447,204,000. Since then supplementary estimates have been presented amounting to £21,614,000. Actual expenditure amounted to £4583 millions representing a saving of £104 millions.

Floating Debt.
Floating debt stands at £210,455,000 compared with £211,555,000 a year ago and is made up of Treasury bills £775,005,000 and ways and means borrowing from the public departments of £34,550,000.

Position Considered Satisfactory.
[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, April 1. The figures of the nation's balance sheet for the financial year which ended last night are generally considered highly satisfactory in view of the great difficulties of last year.

If the war debt transactions had not vitiated the Chancellor of the Exchequer's calculations, his Budget would have resulted in a surplus of £51 millions.

A deficit of less than £31 millions was reached after providing £171 millions for a sinking fund.

Payment to the United States was nearly £25 millions, this amount being excluded from the Budget calculations. As against this payment to the United States, Britain would normally have received, since last July, £304 millions from allied war debts and from reparations together with other sums connected with the war.

Treasury returns had little effect this morning upon gilt-edged securities which remained steady with war loan 34 per cent. at 101 1/16.

Sterling on New York opened at 3.49.

BOYCOTT OF JEWS STARTS

NAZI PICKETS TAKE UP POSITIONS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, April 1. THE Nazi boycott was enforced at 10 a.m. to-day. Most of the Jewish shops have already closed, and the remainder will soon put up their shutters, for it is obviously impossible for them to expect customers.

The beginning of the boycott was the signal for uniformed Nazi pickets to take up positions outside all Jewish establishments, whether open or closed.

Their presence, which is reinforced by posters calling on the people to defend themselves and to refuse to buy from the Jews, is sufficient to intimidate any would be shoppers.

Leaders May be Unable to Check Boycott.

BERLIN, April 1. The suspension of the boycott is regarded by disinterested parties here as a recognition of the undesirable economic dislocation which would follow, and this viewpoint was urged by Nazi members of the Cabinet.

Many people consider the whole campaign not so much as an act of defence against foreign "atrocity" propaganda as an attempt to appease disappointed Nazi extremists who have been incited to anti-Semitism for years.

It is doubted, however, whether the policy of appeasement will be successful. Jewish circles fear that once the boycott is started Nazi leaders will not be able to hold their followers in check to-morrow evening.

Herr Goebbels' speech has not allayed this anxiety.

Placards Posted.
Meanwhile preparations for the boycott are continuing, and in order that foreigners may see the seriousness of the position, placards in ungrammatical English proclaiming: "Germans defend yourself against Jewish atrocity propaganda" will be posted.

Dr. Goebbels' Threat.

BERLIN, April 1. It is announced that the anti-Jewish boycott will begin at ten o'clock this morning, but will be called off this evening until April 5.

In announcing the decision, Dr. Goebbels, the Minister of Propaganda, explained that there has been a noticeable decline of the "atrocity campaign" abroad, which proved the success of the boycott threat.

Dr. Goebbels also declared that the improved situation proved that German Jewry has absolute power to limit or stop the campaign abroad.

The boycott will be resumed at 10 a.m. on April 5 unless the atrocity campaign ceases before then.

"If the boycott has to be resumed on April 5, it will be resumed in a manner calculated to destroy German Jewry," declared Herr Goebbels in a broadcast address last night.

"We want," he said, "to live in peace with the world. We want to work. We do not want to make enemies unnecessarily."

FIDUCIARY ISSUE REVERTS TO NORMAL

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rugby, April 1. The authority under which the bank of England was empowered to issue an additional £15 million of notes, not covered by gold, expired last night and as the bank did not ask for a renewal of the authority the fiduciary issue reverts to the normal statutory amount of £280 millions.

The increase to £275 millions dates from September, 1931, when the gold standard was suspended.

The reason for the absence of action on the part of the bank is to be found in its recent big acquisitions of gold. Since January, when the present influx of gold began the bank has acquired nearly £24 millions of gold. The additional gold acquired has increased the metal cover for the note issue and renders an increase in confidence to cover unnecessary.

OPENING OF HOLY YEAR

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY AT ST. PETER'S

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

VATICAN CITY, April 1. THE solemn opening of the Holy Year, commemorating the Crucifixion was to-day carried out by His Holiness the Pope in an atmosphere of mediaeval splendour, surrounded by Cardinals, Prelates, Ambassadors and Ministers accredited to his Court.

Striking three times with a golden hammer on the Holy Door of Saint Peter's, the Pope, attired in a gorgeous mantle of white silk and gold, demanded admission to the Church, while the bells of Saint Peter's pealed the holiday.

Slowly the door began to move, and the Pope, holding a lighted candle in his right hand stepped over the threshold. His Holiness was the first to enter Saint Peter's in the Holy Year.

The Cardinals, Bishops and Monsignori followed, each kissing the threshold as they passed. The Pope then turning to the crowd which thronged into the Church, imparted the Apostolic Blessing.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CALCUTTA, April 1. THE series of arrests of Nationalists, made recently to prevent the banned meeting of the Indian Congress, has not deterred the Congress members, who to-day assembled in the tramways shed and squatted, refusing to move even when the police arrived.

They were, however, finally dispersed, 150 being arrested, including Mrs. Nellie Sengupta, the English wife of the Bengal Congress Leader, and 40 other women.

CAUSTIC SODA! WIFE OF BUDDHIST MONK DIES IN SINGAPORE

Singapore.—Mistaking a bottle of caustic soda for one of medicated wine was said to have had fatal results for a Cantonese woman into whose death the Singapore Coroner, Mr. F. G. Bourne, enquired.

Dr. Benjamin Chew, A.M.O. at the General Hospital, gave medical evidence that on March 15, a Chinese woman, aged 31 years, to hospital. Witness discovered that the woman had been in hospital previously, on January 30 and February 25, with caustic soda poisoning. She was re-admitted on February 25 with signs of further complications and discharged on March 8 against medical advice. When she was once more admitted on March 15 she was found to be in a very poor condition and an operation was necessary to attempt to save her life. The operation, however, was of no avail.

A post-mortem examination of the body revealed that death was due to wasting away, emaciation and a stricture of the air passages, the result of caustic soda poisoning about a month and a half previously.

At the time of her admission it was said that the poisoning had been accidental and the woman had said, too, that she wanted to take some medicine to relieve a stomach ache but by mistake had swallowed part of the contents of a bottle of caustic soda.

Wife of a Monk.
Yang Pay Sang, a Cantonese Buddhist monk, said that the deceased was his wife.

In reply to His Honour's question, the witness stated that although he was a monk he was not confined to a monastery but lived in his own home and had a wife and children.

His Honour: Then you can't very well be a good monk.

Witness went on to say that on January 28, which was Chinese New Year Day, his wife was playing Mah Jongg, when she was aware of a stomach ache. She took what she believed to be Chinese medicine, but suddenly felt a severe pain and said that something was burning inside.

His Honour: What was in that medicine bottle?—Medicated wine. It cures stomach ache, heart ache, and other internal disorders.

The case was adjourned.

MOLLISON'S PLAN NEW FLIGHT

UNIQUE ATTEMPT BY MAN AND WIFE

London, March 28.—A flight from New York of over 5,000 miles will shortly be attempted by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mollison, the British flying couple who, between them, hold more than half a dozen flight records.

Mr. Mollison reached London to-day after his successful South American flight. He said that while they did not primarily intend to attempt to beat the long distance record, they hoped to make a unique flight for a man and wife.

Mr. Mollison added that the machine was ready, and that he hoped to leave within the next two months.

Mrs. Mollison, better known as Amy Johnson, holds the England-Cape flight record, while Mr. Mollison, who was the first man to fly solo across the Atlantic from east to west, recently set up a new mark for a flight from England to South America. He took three days, ten hours, eighteen minutes for the 4,000 mile journey, beating the record set up by the giant French machine Arc-en-Ciel by no less than 25 hours 52 minutes.

PERILS OF PHILIPPINES SEPARATION
GOVERNOR-GENERAL WARNS THE ISLANDS

Manila, P.I., Mar. 24.—Philippine separation from the United States is a perilous venture economically, in the opinion of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who in his annual report which was released for publication to-day, warned the islands of the dangers.

Free trade with the United States, which permits the islands to sell nearly all of their sugar crop there, gave the Philippines an enormous favourable trade balance in the last year.

Colonel Roosevelt, who praised the wisdom of Philippine Legislators in balancing the budget and generally providing wise statutes for the islands, indirectly hinted that the same wisdom might be applied to a study of the possible dangers in the independence bill that has been passed. The former Governor-General is now en route to the United States. His report to the War Department was his last official document.

BUCOLICS

ENGLISHMEN in this Colony miss more than the theatres and suchlike spectacular attractions of the West, the charm and variety of the English countryside. The history of the race, more living than that to be found in book, is written in ragstone and copse, and to exchange these for alien surroundings is to lose an influence as tender and profound as a mother's over her child. Wherever Englishmen have planted the flag they have striven to build up a civic and social system which shall best express occidental ideals; in such surroundings we imagine we are at home, though we have to confess that concrete and steel, conventions and rules, form little but the veneer of a wood whose grain is radically different from our own. Hong Kong, in spite of its splendid buildings, remains unalterably Oriental and no amount of make-believe can give us the illusion that this is our home. Hence the average foreigner is never wholly free from a restlessness which, though he may not be aware of it, reacts on his physical and mental life. If his nature were able to respond to the local countryside his contentment would be more secure, but the New Territories, for all their picturesque, are strange and unfriendly to the foreign eye. There is beauty in our local hills, and the coastal scenery has a gentle grandeur that the most unresponsive person could not fail to admire, but we feel it is separated from us not only by thousands of miles, but by thousands of years. Yet one can learn to love Hong Kong and its alien landscape, as one can learn to love its people, by not expecting of it something that it cannot give us. Fully to enjoy this countryside we must approach it as strangers eager for new experiences and tolerant of the things we find, no matter how they disagree with those to which we have been accustomed. We must not be disappointed if the villages through which we pass have none of the attributes of Goldsmith's Auburn, or if the hillsides up which we climb are not fragrant with thyme and gorse. The wind that blows through the coarse grass is not the wind from the English Channel; it is a wind that has fanned the tombs of long-dead emperors, billowed a junk from some distant port, or sighed over the rice-fields in some remote and dormant province to which the culture of the West has not yet penetrated. Perhaps if we accepted more readily the features of our surroundings, instead of trying to shape them in accordance with our own ideas, we should be more at peace. Yet progress is a force that moves regardless of those whose efforts gave it birth; it is like the moving finger of Omar Khayyam, not one word of which it had written could man unwrite. New roads must open up the sleeping countryside to the eyes of town-dwellers; overhead cables, bringing electric power to villages whose sole unit of energy for centuries past has been the buffalo, must break the silence of the hills, and the tide of building construction must encroach on land that has never bared its bosom to anything but the ploughshare. Progress has already cast its shadow on the rural charm of the New Territories, and within the next decade populous streets will have outstretched their walls and pavements where the paddy now grows in unmoistened peace. No doubt one chapter of the history of the British Empire will record with pride the thoroughness with which we developed and modernised by our own standards. It will praise worthy achievement. Hong Kong, when our ships first came here to trade, was an island inhabited by a handful of fisher folk, the most primitive of the natives. We have made it a peaceful, prosperous

ELECTRIFICATION OF KOWLOON

EFFECT OF POWER SCHEME ON LOCAL INDUSTRY

The advent of cheap power such as is promised by the high-tension electric cable installation to the farthest limits of the New Territories, through Kowloon, is certain to reduce costs and to give a powerful impetus to local industries. In fact, cheap electricity in the distant parts of the Colony will undoubtedly influence the starting of new industries which was not possible before the transmission line was erected in the New Territories.

The scheme commences at the Kowloon Tong sub-station, from whence a 6,000 volt underground cable carries the current through the Beacon Hill railway tunnel. At the north end of the tunnel an outdoor sub-station steps up the pressure to 22,000 volts and from that point the overhead transmission line commences.

Subsidiary Lines.

When completed the scheme will make electricity available in all villages and towns of importance throughout the New Territories. It comprises a 22,000 volt line to selected positions where the voltage is transformed down to 6,000. Subsidiary lines operating at this lower pressure supply the villages and market towns through transformers which reduce the voltage to 250/300 for domestic supply. The nature and size of these transformations depend upon the local demand, and where this is small the transformer and switch-gear are mounted on a pole, but for the larger market towns substations have been erected, feeding on to a low tension distributing network.

The 22,000 volt line is carried on lattice steel towers, galvanised throughout, which were supplied "knocked down" in bundles of a suitable size and weight for coolie transport and were bolted together in situ. They are of the same general design as that approved by Sir Edward Lutens for the "Grid System" at present being constructed in England and are as graceful and artistic in appearance as it is possible to make such utilitarian structures. The towers are designed to give a factor of safety of two and a half against overturning under typhoon conditions, but owing to the heavy nature of the soil in which they are erected this figure has been greatly exceeded.

Strong Foundations.

There are two main types of towers, the straight type being much lighter than those designed for positions where the line changes its direction and where, in addition to wind stresses, the pull of the wires tends to uproot the structure. The straight line type, which are only about four or five feet square at ground level, expand to nine feet square seven feet below the surface, and the foundations consist of two long flat plates parallel to the conductors, with earth well packed below them. This makes a very satisfactory foundation and has the advantage of obviating the necessity for concrete. At angle positions stronger foundations are needed, and here the four legs are carried down independently with large reinforced concrete "grillages" well buried in the ground.

The line passes over exceedingly hilly and broken country for the greater part of its length, and under these conditions it has been found impossible to standardise the spans. Over paddy fields and flat country the average span is 400 feet, but in the hills is increased to an average of 700 feet, as the line is usually on a hillside where the towers have to be erected on spurs. The tallest tower used is approximately 50 feet high.

THE TAIPO GHOST

Is the White House
Haunted?

A questionable addition to the attractions of Taiipo is the existence of a ghost, if local rumours are to be believed. The ghost, who is said to have been exceptionally active of late, occupies a derelict mansion near the railway line known as the White House. This house was built several years ago by Government as a residence for the Inspector of Schools, who declined to remain there longer than a few months. It is not known why he refused to stay there, for the site is no more malarial than other places in Taiipo. Tradition has it that the ground on which the house is built is "devil haunted" and that the Inspector was driven away by the banishes. Whatever the reason for his exit, the house has remained empty ever since and the Government would be only too glad to let it for next to nothing. It commands a magnificent view of the bay, contains about eight rooms, and cost over $30,000 to build. Seldom has there been such an example of extravagance. Now it is rapidly decaying, the ground floors have been removed together with most of the glass and woodwork, and it is estimated that to put it in a habitable state of repair would cost almost a third of its original price.

Mysterious Lights.

For many years no one paid any attention to the White House, though the local Chinese always referred to it as the abode of evil and populous port. Yet one day the grass will grow again upon the ruins of our splendour. If for this reason alone, we should respect the countryside.

Lately, however, several people claim to have seen mysterious lights in the windows, whilst a market foki told our informant that when he was walking back to Taiipo from the Station one evening last week, he heard unearthly moans and shrieks coming from the direction of the house. Europeans living at Taiipo laugh at these stories and say that the house is only haunted by coolies who use it as a free sleeping quarter, and that the cries that are alleged to have been heard come from the coolies quarrelling among themselves. The Chinese residents are convinced that the White House is haunted, however, and nothing will induce them to go near the place after dark. They deny that coolies go there to sleep and say that they would be too terrified to sleep within twenty yards of it.

A Poltergeist?

One bold resident, who was sceptical of the rumours that were current about the Taiipo ghost, volunteered to enter the house one night, just to show the ignorant people that their tales had no foundation. He climbed into one of the rooms on the ground floor, it is said, and was about to enter the hall when a heavy object struck him on the head, half-stunning him. He angrily told "whoever was there" to come out of their hiding place, but there was no answer. The rooms were as silent as the tomb. Too shaken by the blow he had received from his unknown assailant, he decided not to explore the house and beat a hasty retreat. He has never been able to discover who threw the brick, though if he had heard of "poltergeist" he might the house remains a landmark of terror for the timid and superstitious and, since the Government have given up all hopes of ever letting it, residents are of the opinion that it should be demolished.

Kowloon Lose to Borderers

On their own ground, the Borderers beat the Kowloon by two goals to one. The Borderers gave a comparatively poor display and were rather lucky to take both points. Neither team was at full strength, and consequently play did not reach a high standard.

Kowloon were the first to attack, and Bliss tested the Borderers' goalkeeper with a hard shot. The Borderers, however, retaliated and Jones gave them the lead when he headed through. Play was fairly even at this stage, with the defence on both sides predominating. Shortly before the interval, the Borderers went further ahead when H. Harris sent in a beautiful shot with the goalkeeper unsighted.

At the resumption Kowloon again took up the attack, and Hill nearly scored. A few minutes later, they were rewarded of their persistent efforts when the same player scored in a scramble in front of the goal-mouth.

Borderers: — Smith; Mullane, Rees; H. Harris, Podmore, Underwood; L. Harris, Matthias, Fortey, Jones and Duncan.

Kowloon: — Cook; Gouldy, Walker; White, Bliss, Willis; Webb, Hill, Staveland, Phillips and Kirkord. Referee: R.P.O. Anderson.

K.C.C. DEFEATED

HONG KONG WIN BY INNINGS.

The Kowloon Cricket Club completed their cricket fixtures for the season with an interesting game with the Hong Kong Cricket Club, played on the Mainland, resulting in victory for the visitors by an innings. J. M. Innes played a sound game for the K.C.C. in the first innings, making a record score for his side of 58, whilst for the visitors D. S. Harley batted strongly to make twenty runs short of a century. Hong, for Kowloon, bowled exceptionally well and took four wickets.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT KING'S PARK

ARRANGED BY Y.M.C.A.

H. Fisher and Mrs. Nish won the lawn tennis tournament arranged by the Y.M.C.A. Club and held at King's Park on Saturday.

Messrs. Steven and Lister were runners-up.

The following were the pairs in the competition, which was run on the American tournament system of each pair playing every other pair:

Messrs. E. Gray and G. Gray, Messrs. Gray and Popple, E. Angus and Mrs. Boas, Messrs. Andrews and Schofield, C. Aris and Miss Regan, H. Fisher and Mrs. Nish, Messrs. Stevens and Lister, R. S. Luke and Mrs. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Jago, and Messrs. Wright and Symonds.

WEEK-END FOOTBALL RESULTS

Strange, Hynes regained the lead for the Club.

After the interval, the Navy tried hard for the equaliser but found S. Strange at back in his best form. Eventually, however, the sailors succeeded through Purkins who scored from close range.

Club: — Farrow; Maran and Railton; Skinner, Strange (S.) and Punccheon; Diming, Wirth, Strange (E.), Hynes and Duncan.

Navy: — Cowen; Buchanan and Newman; Humphries, Shirras and Draper; Werno, Davis, Purkins, McPhee and Hudspeth.

SECOND DIVISION.

LINCOLNS v. BORDERERS.

The Borderers, runners-up of this Division, were severely trounced to the tune of three goals to nil in their match with the Lincolns. The Lincolns were much quicker on the ball, being ably led by Higgins. They attacked from the start and from a perfect centre by Brennan, Cousins opened the scoring with a first timer. In the second half, the same player scored again and Brennan noted the third.

Lincolns: — Deacon; Rodin and Culough; Maughan, Worrall and Willy; Clayton, Cousins, Higgins, McGuinness and Brennan.

Borderers: — Williams; Suter and Mountford; Court, Bebbington and Wallace; Hazlewood, Morris, Hanblyn, Marshfield and Addison.

THIRD DIVISION.

SOUTH CHINA v. R.A.F.

South China were rather lucky to beat the R.A.F. on the Kowloon ground by one goal to nil. The Airmen had most of the game, particularly in the second half when they were seldom out of their opponents' territory. Sui Kwok Sui, however, scored the winning goal for the Chinese.

RADIO v. RECREIO.

The Radio fielded only nine players when they met the Recreio at Happy Valley and did well to come out victors by four goals to two. In the first half, the Radio led by one goal scored through Tavares.

After the interval Delgad, equalised, but Tavares and Elms added further goals for the Radio.

R.E. v. UNIVERSITY.

This match was played at Soekunpo; and ended in a win for the former by three goals to one. The undergrads were the first to take the lead through Simonds, but shortly afterwards Whiting equalised for the Engineers. In the second half Whitaker and Pegg added further goals for them.

CHINESE FORESEE CONFLICT

DISSENSION OVER MANDATED ISLANDS POSSIBLE.

Shanghai.—Dealing with the question of Japan's withdrawal from the League of Nations, Dr. C. O. Wu, former Chinese Minister in Washington, interviewed by members of the press stated that, although Japan had given official notification of her withdrawal, she was bound under the League Covenant to observe her obligations as a member of the League for the next two years. Japan's withdrawal from the League would bring her no good, but the fact that she had actually withdrawn demonstrated the present temper of the Japanese.

Continuing, Dr. Wu said that, in his opinion, the withdrawal would only increase the world's resentment against Japan. Another effect would be the possibility of clashes between her and three other Great Powers, the United States, Great Britain, and Germany. If she was firm in her intention of keeping the mandated Pacific islands after her withdrawal.

Japan's announced intention to keep these islands, Dr. Wu pointed out, would meet with strong opposition from the United States while Germany, who formerly governed them, would ask for the cancellation of Japan's mandates. It was expected that Great Britain would also object to Japan's keeping these islands which were in proximity to Australia. Therefore, the mandated islands question would make possible a conflict not only between Japan and the League, but also between Japan and the three great Powers, he concluded.

GLENCOE OPENED UP AT LAST

New £500,000 Roadway Now Complete

COMMERCIAL TRAFFIC IN FAMOUS PASS

The last section of the new Glencoe road was completed last month and is now open to traffic. This announcement marks the close of seven years' work, and the whole undertaking has cost approximately £500,000.

It is understood that the Prime Minister will be invited to perform the official opening ceremony which is expected to take place in the autumn.

The anniversary of the massacre of Glencoe fell on the Monday, February 13.

The last section of the new Glencoe road—that between Kingshouse and Bridge of Orchy—was completed on February 4 and connected to the Carnock-Kingshouse and Bridge of Orchy-Tyndrum sections. Thus the 30 miles of new roadway has been completed and opened to traffic.

The completion of this great undertaking opens the famous glen to commercial traffic. For years the only road was but a broken, twisted track, which has now been replaced by a boulevard 18 feet broad and 20 feet wide at curves and sharp bends.

As soon as the scheme was mooted it was almost abandoned, for numerous protests against "despoliation" of the wild grandeur of the pass and "encroachment" of its memorable history were made.

Glencoe, on account of the history of the massacre of the MacDonalds, the anniversary of which falls due on Monday, is possibly the most commonly known pass in Scotland, and has been a great attraction to visitors. The improvement in the road will doubtless aid in inducing more people to motor through the famous valley.

It is interesting to note that a MacDonald—the Prime Minister—will be asked to perform the official opening, which is expected, will take place some time in the autumn.

Until the massacre of Glencoe in 1692 the country now pierced by the new roadway was the home of the MacDonald Clan.

Where the Road Runs.

The first surveying for this great undertaking was begun about seven years ago, and since then the work has been going on steadily, through summer and winter. Building 30 miles of new roadway is, even under the most favourable conditions, no light undertaking, but this road, which flings itself over mountain slopes and vast solitudes of moorland and bog; which rises to an altitude of 1143 feet; which says "Good-bye" to the West Highland Railway at Bridge of Orchy, and does not see another railway until it reaches Ballahulish, some 24 miles farther on; which stretches over districts swept with great snowstorms in winter, and has to cope with land which has a rainfall of 100 inches a year, and is consequently traversed by innumerable mountain torrents, is an undertaking which none but the clearest, the stout-hearted, and the steadfast could conceive and carry through.

Cost Approximately £500,000.

The approximate cost of the road is £500,000, and about 800 men have been employed in its construction. Beginning at Tyndrum, the road starts a quarter of a mile above the village. It branches off from the Oban road in a great sweeping curve, from which one can get a superb view down Strathfillan to the village of Crianlarich, tucked in at the foot of Ben More and Stobinian. It then runs parallel with the old road and the West Highland Railway as far as Bridge of Orchy, but keeping all the while on the other side of the valley, thus enabling the traveller to get fine views of the railway's famous "horse-shoe curve," near the tiny clachan of Auch, and of Ben Doran. On reaching Bridge of Orchy the new road crosses the old, and for the next two miles the two roads change places, the old road now being on the west side of the valley and the new road on the east. Nearing Loch Tulla the roads diverge. The old road curves round the head of Loch Tulla past Inveroran, after which it rises over the shoulder of the Black Mount until it reaches a height of 1457 feet then it dips down again to the Kingshouse Inn, near which the new road again crosses it.

Meanwhile the new road passes along between Loch Tulla and the West Highland Railway, and on reaching the head of the loch it swings out on to the edge of the Moor of Rannoch, losing sight of the railway, which crosses the moor alone in a different direction. It passes innumerable lochans and rises to its summit about two miles past Loch Ba. It now turns west, and two or three miles farther on meets and crosses the old road. At this point the traveller gets a fine view of Buachaille Etive, which guards the eastern entrance to the Pass of Glencoe, and here also he can diverge on the old road again for a mile or so, and draw up at the door of the Kingshouse Inn, which is well worthy of a visit.
